

P59

Poster

Karmela Aleksic-Maslac
University of Zagreb

with:
Branko Jeren, Univ. of Zagreb

contact:
Karmela.Aleksic@fer.hr

Advanced Solutions in Study Used Internet

The introduction of Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) and Internet into the educational system enables the student to make a transition from passive to active learning and thus to partake the role of research worker who is responsible for his own learning process. In this paper we will show the new possibilities in the organization of study used Internet and what this method means for students and for lecturers. We will describe advantages and disadvantages of this model.